Kacey and her class were on a school trip to Weston Beach, to do Beach School. This included: willow weaving, sandcastle building and pebble painting.

When Kacey and her classmates arrived at the beach, her group's first activity was willow weaving. Willow weaving is art using a long piece of willow, glue mixed with water and tissue paper. Kacey decided to make a yellow and pink stripy fish.

After about 30 minutes Kacey and her group moved onto their next activity. The next activity was sandcastle building. Her group decided to re-create the Disney castle from the Disney movies! First, they built a basic square on the floor, then added another smaller square, and then built a cone on the top to create the tower on the top. Finally, they added details, like turrets, windows and a door.

The final activity was painting pebbles! Carefully, Kacey sat down on the sand, but found something round and shiny. She picked it up cautiously, it was a pearl! Kacey heard a faint buzzing noise and saw white. What was happening? Where was she going?

Kacey had a feeling she wasn't at the beach anymore. Where was she? Frozen, Kacey stood still, like she was stone. Cautiously, she looked around, shaking. She heard eerie voices saying "1x2=2, 2x2=4" And so on. Kacey thought she was in a school. She was right. On the wall beside her, it said "Luckwell Primary 1920" On a golden plaque. Slowly, she wondered around, her shoes tapping on the tile floor. Brightly, the white pearl shone in her hands. Kacey heard the same buzzing sound as earlier and saw white again. She magically appeared at Weston Beach. What had just happened? She thought about it for a moment. Was this a dream? She didn't know.
