

♥TIME TRAVEL♥

I stepped onto the warm, smooth sand. I could feel the sand gently edging between my toes. The sun was gleaming and the sky was bright blue and cloudless. The sapphire blue sea was gently swooshing around. A breeze twirled round making my long blonde hair wave around. A squawking seagull glided past causing me to stumble.

Overwhelmed by the joy of the beach, Mia ran along the beach not caring about everyone else. Suddenly, I tripped over something and landed flat on my face. I sat up and groaned turning round. I looked at what I had tripped on. It was a pair of sunglasses. I looked at it more closely, looking at the weird Egyptian pattern. The sunglasses were a golden colour and shined a lovely purple colour in the sun. I loved them so much that I was willing to keep them. Without thinking I tried them on. But as soon as I did everything went black and white the normal again. I felt rather afraid so I pulled them off.

I looked all around me. I was surrounded by Egyptian pyramids and weird patterns. Then, a bunch of weird Egyptian people with masks started dancing around me. "hello?!" I said feeling kind of creeped out. But they continued dancing. "WHAT ARE YOU DOING?!" I screamed. I was so frustrated I wanted to scream and scream and scream. All the dancing stopped and one of them pointed at me and said "Kill her!"

"NO!" I screamed and ran off. I continued running while they chased until I reached a maze. "Hopefully I can lose them in here" I thought and ran in. I kept on running until I reached a door. I yanked it open and ran in. I ran through a nather door and a nather until I reached one last door and opened in. I was back at the beach. "How did that happen?!" I thought. "well at least I'm back" I smiled and ran back to her parents.
